STUART OPPOSES TAX EXEMPTIONS

Warns Finance Committee Against Any Class Distinctions

PROTESTS RECEIVED

Senate and House Finance Committees Hear Delegations on the West-Addison Measures.

Richmond, Jan. 22.—Speaking as a member of the State Advisory Board of Taxation before a joint session of the Finance Committees of the House and Senate last night, Governor Henry C. Stuart, made it plain that he would not agree to a policy of exemptions which would give to some forms of business a lower burden of taxation than is accorded to others. He agreed that if the way could be devised, there might be some relief for the manufacturer who has made a temporary loan just before the taxing date—February 1—but who does not include it as part of his working capital for any considerable period.

The only change made by the segregation system of taxation, the Governor explained, had been to reduce the rate. As a result of that reduction, the manufacturers are now complaining that they have not been reduced enough, and the banks are complaining that they have not been reduced as much as the manufacturers. The Governor, speaking for the State Advisory Board, warned the committees against inaugurating any policy of tax exemptions which might in the end work serious inequalities and make great inroads on the State's revenues.

Vigorously protesting against the interpretation of the tax law, under which manufacturers are taxed on their gross assets rather than on their net capital in business, a delegation of manufacturers, headed by John W. Craddock, of Lynchburg, appeared before the joint committee in support of the measures introduced in the Senate by Senators West and Addison, intended to relieve the situation complained of by the manufacturing concerns of the State.

The enterprises represented last night are bitterly opposed to the interpretation placed on the statute with reference to omitted taxes as they are to taxing of their outstanding indebtedness, and Mr. Craddock was somewhat caustic in his reference to the attitude of the State examiners of records, some of whom are reported to have censured the Advisory Board on Taxation, for its suggestions to the local boards of review to concern themselves primarily with the assessments for 1915, and let the Legislature define its position on omissions of other years.

CHOLERA IN HUNGARY

Extent to Which The Disease Followed the War There.

The extent to which Cholera followed the war into Austria-Hungary is shown by an official statement to the effect that the disease was epidemic only in Galicia, where the weekly number of cases in the month of August was from 1,300 to 4,000.

Since the middle of September of this year a rapid decrease was noted and since the first week in October the number of cases occurring weekly has not exceeded 200.

Outside of Galicia there has been nothing resembling an epidemic.

The maximum number of cases in Hungary never exceeded 4,000, a number which was reached in two weeks of June among Russian prisoners of war. Except for this, the maximum was 600 cases in the begining of August. Since September the number has remained under 100 cases per week.

EXPLAINS TO GLASS.

President Thinks Congress Does Not Realize Country's Demand For Preparedness.

Washington, Jan. 22.—President Wilson in a letter to Representative Carter Glass, of Virginia yesterday made clear in his own words why he will make a stumping tour of the country for the purpose of arousing public sentiment in behalf of the national defense legislation now pending in Congress.

The President expressed the opinion that Congress does not "quite realize the genuine demand of the country for an adequate plan for preparation for national defense," and "I feel that it is my duty to explain this matter to the country and summon its support."

The letter was written to Mr. Glass declining an invitation to make an address at Lynchburg, the Representative's home city, before the joint State Conference of Charities and Corrections and Juvenile Association. This invitation was extended by Mr. Glass, and a delegation of Lynchburg citizens last week. The President's declination of the invitation is regarded by members of the Virginia delegation as presaging his acceptance of an invitation to address the Virginia General Assembly, which will be extended to him Monday.

JAPAN IS DISSATISFIED.

Campaign Being Conducted Against Alliance with England.

Tokyo, Jan. 21—A campaign of great bitterness is being conducted nt present by a section of the Tokyo press against the Anglo-Japanese alliance. While the attacks reflect in some degree the pro-German sympathies which exist in certain quarters in Japan, they are mainly inspired by the feeling that England stands in the way of the complete execution of Japan's policy toward China.

Evidence of the boldness with which this anti-English feeling finds expression is seen in a series of articles now running in the newspaper Yamato.

In these articles, which bear the caption, "A message to England," the editor of the Yamato declares that the progress of the war has completely disillusioned the Japanese people, who expected that the struggles would be over within a few months.

Although Japan is a member of the grand alliance, the editor of the Yamato declares openly that the entente powers are losing, and says that even if the conflict ends in a draw Japan and England will not be able to remain on terms of friendship

Japan, like Germany, is under the necessity of seeking expansion, and, therefore, England's traditional policy of maintaining existing conditions is unfavorable to Japan.

The Anglo-Japanese alliance made this country the defender of India in England's interests. When the treaty was revised England extricated herself from responsibility in case Japan and the United States went to war.

Japan, the Yamato's editor goes on to argue, has grown too strong for England's liking and she has begun to fear Japanese expansion in India, China and the south seas.

England's desire is to get France, Russia and Italy to prevent Japan from "running away with the loot while the fire is burning."

(This is an allusion to the proposal that China should join the entente powers).

The conclusion of the Yamato's editor is that the war will end by one of the allied nations breaking away from the London agreement.

Reviewing the probable situation which will result from the war, the Yamato concludes that Germany and Russia will draw together and advocates a Russo-German Japanese alliance on the basis that Germany and Russia are to have western Asia and India and Japan is to have a free hand in China.

FORM CORDON AROUND VILLA

Carranzista Troops Said to Have Surrounded Mexican Outlaw

FOOD SUPPLY CUT OFF

Followers of Bandit Said to Have Made Requests For Amnesty—Americans Still in Peril.

El Paso, Jan., 22—Francisco Villa is reported surrounded by Carranzista troops in the Sierra Madre mountains of Chihuahua.

This report by General Cavases, who commands the three columns hemming in the bandit chief, was made to Gen. Louis Herrera at Chihuahua and resulted in the premature announcement that Villa was a prisoner.

Gov. Gen. Ignacio Enriquez, of Chihuahua, on official business in Juarez today, gave this explanation of the reported capture, while pointing out that the outlawed bandit probably could hold out in his mountain hiding place indefinitely.

Enriquez had heard that Villa even took a third wife recently, and that his followers have women in their camps.

Several of the bandit chief's followers who, Enriquez said, had made requests for amnesty, declared that from Villia's hiding place his loyal band could stand off a regiment. The Carranzistas, pursuing the sole object of capturing Villa dead or alive, are endeavoring to cut off his food supply.

The new revolution started around Torreon by a combination of Villa, Argumedo, Zapata, and other enemies of the de facto government, is receiving the major portion of the Carranza militarists' attention today.

The rebellion which threatens Americans and foreigners there, is in a territory the Carranzistas had regarded as completely under their control.

The Mexican consulate, which yesterday announced the execution of eighteen bandits, has obtained no official confirmation. General Cavases said that when he left Chihuahua city the eighteen prisoners were being held, awaiting execution. He had no way of knowing definitely whether the executions were carried out after he left, but expressed no surprise. He said the officials were collecting evidence to show that the men had participated in the Santa Ysabel massacre of Americans.

Advices from the interior of Chihuahua asserted that Villa had resumed activity in the Guerra district and that raids on several ranches were reported.

FOUR PERISH IN FIRE.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Jan. 22—Mrs. Mallis, wife of Will Mallis, a farmer near Lytle station, Chickamaugua, Park, Ga., and three small children are dead, and an 18 year old daughter perhaps fatally burned, as the result of an explosion of a can of oil, with which Mrs. Mallis was attempting to start a fire in her kitchen stove. The three children died within a few hours after the accident, but the mother lingered until Thursday night. The 18 year old daughter, who attempted to save her mother and sisters, was so badly burned that she is not expected to live.

THOUSAND HOMELESS

Disastrous Flood in Illinois Causes Great Damage

Chicago, Jan. 22—Thousands today are homeless, millions of dollars' worth of property has been destroyed and damaged, and the health of every resident of Chicago and its environs has been endangered by the biggest flood in the history of Illinois.

A record rainfall for January reaching nearly two inches, caused an overflow of the Desplaines River, brought a rise in the Fox River to a point where dynamiting was resorted to, and flooded the Chicago River until it was thought that its flow would be diverted into the lake, imperilling water supply.

The greatest damage was reported in the Fox River district, where bridges were swept away, some carried down the river, and thousands rendered homeless. Joliet witnessed the worst flood in its history. More than 2,000 were driven from their homes, and many were rescued from drowning by means of rafts and boats.

The Fox River rose more than seven inches. Men with dynamite were sent down the river from Joliet to Aurora in an attempt to break the ice and permit the water to flow freely.

Maywood was seriously menaced by the overflowing of the Desplaines River. At several points more than four feet of water flooded the streets and the homes of thousands were imperiled. Late in the day the river was registering a rise of six inches, with no relief in sight.

In Chicago the greatest damage caused by the deluge was the flooding of thousands of basements, the inability of the sewerage system to carry away the water, the flooding of one of the big pumping stations, resulting in the contaminating of the supply of drinking water, and the crippling of the telephone and street car systems.

Thousands of families residing in basements were driven from their homes. In many cases they were rescued only with difficulty. In the vicinity of Chicago Lawn, the situation was serious.

Six feet of water stood in the streets in the residential section of Joliet. Lighting plants, telephone stations, schools and street car systems were thrown out of commission, and, 2,000 persons were forced to seek refuge when their homes were flooded with water.

Mooseheart, the home of the Loyal Order of Moose, where the order's industrial school is located, has been flooded and men were working feverishly to check the rise and prevent the breaking of a dam which is holding the water back.

At Rockford, Ottawa, La Salle, Streator, and La Monte, the rains have driven thousands from their homes and have wrought much damage.

"MORAL WELFARE COMMISSIONER"

Anti-Saloon League Urges Election of New State Officer

WANT AN OUSTER LAW

Organization Disclaims Any Possible Reflection on Governor Stuart By Their Action.

Richmond, Jan. 22—Anti-saloonists yesterday voted to ask for a separate law to be known as the "Ouster Law" which would provide for the summary dismissal of all officers in the State who "failed, neglected or refused" to enforce the prohibition law of the State. The recommendation of the legislative committee was unanimously adopted by the convention.

Resolutions were unanimously adopted by the convention providing for the apportionment among the various churches of the State of the debt of $10,700 incurred by the league in the Statewide campaign. It was stated that the whole debt could be conveniently paid by each of the churches paying in some cases $50 and in others $25, according to the ability of the church and to its interest in the cause.

Prohibition forces are nearer than ever before to an open breach following the insistence of the Anti-Saloon League on the recommendation of the legislative committee of the league which would operate to take completely out of the hands of the chief executive of the State the enforcement of the prohibition laws and place it under a morals commissioner, separately elected and delegated by the Legislature.

Friends of the administration regard this recommendation as little short of an imputation of either the Governor's ability or purpose to enforce the law and it is pointed out that with such a prelude to their legislative program there are dangerous shoals ahead of the prohibition ship.

It is believed probable that the friends of the administration in the Legislature would vote against any bill embodying such a provision, and it is thought likely that efforts to get through the General Assembly a measure of that kind would meet with a storm of indignation and opposition from those legislators who are close to the administration.

Attention was called to this situation at Thursday afternoon's meeting by ex-Governor Mann, who warned the league convention against setting out with any real or seeming antagonism toward the administration. He pointed out that the Governor is the chief executive of the State charged with the enforcement of the law and that he could suspend any officer who failed to do his duty and that if he saw fit could suspend the morals commissioner despite his being elected by the Legislature and could asume the duty of enforcing the prohibition law himself if he so desired.

He said that he approached the subject of a morals commissioner from the standpoint of enlarging the powers of the Governor and not of reducing it.

Governor Mann declared that he is in favor of having such a commissioner, and declared that the prohibition laws will not be enforced unless there is such a department. Unless the laws are enforced, he stated, there would be a feeling of disregard for them, and this would be a bad thing for the Commonwealth. He suggested enlarging the powers of the commissioner to look after social vice and gambling. He spoke of studying the records of convicts when he was Governor, and declared that the figures showed that 75 per cent of the convicts were there because of whiskey, and that his personal belief was that at least 90 per cent. were there for that reason.

He said, that it would be a deplorable error to have any open division in the ranks of the prohibitionists and expressed his opinion that any legislation which would assume any antagonism on the part of the Governor would not have great chances for success.

Under the plan proposed by the executive committee the Governor is not even to have the appointment of the proposed morals commissioner, friends of the administration point out, and the committee overtly states that the main reason for taking the enforcement of the law out of the hands of the State's chief executive and placing it under a different head is a fear that politics will enter and that prohibition would be made an issue of the gubernatorial race.

This is regarded by some as an imputation that the leaving of the enforcement of the prohibition law in the hands of the Governor would admit the possibility of the present chief executive's non-enforcement of the law in the light of any possible effect that might have on the prospects of his again seeking office.

All intention to reflect in any way on the ability or integrity of the Governor was disclaimed by the league legislative committee through its spokesman. Dr. James Cannon, Jr., but state that the advantage of having a separate officer who could give his whole attention to the work was not to be gainsaid. He said that the purpose of the league was to have a special department devoted to the work of enforcing the prohibition decree, just as there are other departments of the State.

The league adjourned sine die at 10 o'clock last night.

KILL POLICEMAN IN HOLD-UP

Bold Act of Highwayman in Heart of Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 22—A hold-up man attempted a double murder within a few steps of one of the busiest corners in the Loop district last night. His first shot wounded one victim, and he killed Traffic Policeman Brewer A Johnson in his tracks. The shooting occurred in front of the Cook Tourists Agencies at 15 East Jackson Boulevard, just a few steps from the corner of State street.

After shooting the policeman, the robber, who had played a lone hand in one of the most daring hold-ups in the city's history, joined a woman in a taxicab standing near the entrance to Cook's Agency, the scene of the robbery.

The shots brought hundreds of persons.

The robber realized this almost instantly, jumped out of the cab and ran. The crowd followed, but he held them back with leveled revolver and escaped down an alley.

The woman left the cab on the heels of the man, and, taking advantage of the excitement, mingled with the throng and was lost to sight.

Thursday afternoon a blonde woman about 25, of striking beauty and handsomely attired, walked into Cook's agency and asked about trips to Panama. After a few minutes conversation, she said she would call again. Yesterday afternoon at about the same time the woman called again. A man followed her into the agency closing the door behind him. When he turned around he held a revolver in each hand and gave the command: "Hands up!"

Edward Stone, the manager, and Frank Beneicha, a clerk, quickly complied. E. L. Walsh, cashier, showed fight. The robber fired. The bullet struck Walsh in the chest, but its force had been checked by the wires of a cage, and it inflicted only a slight wound. The robber then drove Walsh, who was still able to walk, together with Beneicha and Miss Plozzynski, the stenographer, into the open steel vault, closed the heavy door and turned the combination.

Then he locked the front door and took between $800 and $900 out of the money drawer, Just about the time the shot was fired a taxicab with a blond young woman as its only pasenger stopped near the agency.

E. D. Scott, who was passing when the shot was fired, called Policeman Johnson from the State street crossing. They returned to the agency, but found the door locked. They saw the robber leaving by another door.

The bandit fired twice. The first shot was enough. It pierced Johnson's heart, and the policeman pitched forward, dead. Then the bandit made his escape. Later the three men the girl, almost suffocated, were liberated from the vault.

MONTENEGRO TO FIGHT TO FINISH

Peace Negotiations Cut Off, Austria Would Crush Nicholas

GOVERNMENT MOVED

Essad-Pasha With Friendly Albanians Will Aid in Defense of Scutari Against Austrians.

London, Jan. 22.—The Austrians have replied to King Nicholas' return to the war by a swift and determined effort to exterminate the Montenegro army.

Three Austrian armies have renewed their offensive with redoubled strength according to a dispatch published in the Paris Temps.

Gen. Koevss is advancing on the line of Cettinje-Pogoritas.

A third army, in Northern Albania, is concentrating for an attack on Scutari, from which place the Austrians are now only about ten miles distant.

A large body of Montenegrin troops is falling back to Scutari, which city it is reported, the Austrians were willing to relinquish to Montenegro, and there Essad Pasha has already arrived with 20,000 friendly Albanians.

Essad, who since the advent of Prince William of Wied has been strongly antiTeuton, declared war against Austria and Bulgaria in January. This move to defend Scutari against Austria is his first active participation in the war on the allies' side.

Events have moved with such astonishing quickness that, while it has been announced that the Montenegrin government has been established at Scutari, it is announced officially at the Montenegrin legation in Rome that the seat of government is moved to Lyons, France.

This makes three seats of government in France.

The French at Paris.

The Belgian at Havre.

The Montengrin at Lyons.

It is conceded by military observers in London and Paris that the Austrains already are the military masters of Montenegro, but it is also known that while they hold all the Montenegrin main roads, they must carry the Taraboch and Carana mountains before they can seize the fastness of Scutari.

These difficulties of advance give the allies their one remaining chance to come to the relief of King Nicholas and save him and his nation.

The Paris Journal says the King has already sent a dispairing cry for help and implored the allies to send their fleets to bombard the Austrian rear and to rush food to his army.

TRAIN BLOWN UP.

Twenty-three Persons Killed Near Puebla, Mexico.

El Paso, Jan. 22— Twenty-three persons were killed near Puebla, recently when a passenger train was blown up, supposedly by Zapata adherents, according to A. J. Trumbo, wealthy mine owner, of the state of Oaxaca, Mex., who has arrived here.

Only one passenger survived, it was reported. Mr. Trumbo said the train which was blow up was immediately ahead of the one on which he was traveling from Mexico City.

"Several volleys were fired into our train," added Mr. Trumbo, who left with his wife for Los Angeles last night, With them was H. C. Tanner, of Mexico City, who is convalescing from a bullet wound inflicted, he said by a military officer when Tanner resented insulting references to the United States.

Mr. Trumbo reported typhus fever rampant throughout southern and central Mexico. Conditions as to filth and destitution were indescribable, he said.

The party had only dry tortillas to eat during the journey, and at every stop officers demanded money, One officer took Mr. Trumbo's coat.

MAYOR SENDS THANKS

District Commissioner Brownlow Replies to Mr. Fisher's Communication.

Mayor Fisher recently sent a communication to Mr. Louis Brownlow, one of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, extending thanks for the service rendered this city a few weeks ago when the new motor fire engine was being tested. Mr. Brownlow, it will be remembered, sent T. M. Robinson, superintendent of the machinery department of the District of Columbia, to this city to supervise the test. The following is Mayor Fisher's letter and Mr. Brownlow's response:

January 20th., 1916.

Hon. Louis Brownlow,
District Commissioner,
Washington, D. C.,

Dear Sir:—

I wish to thank the District Commissioners through you for your kindness in authorizing, (upon my request) Mr. T. M. Robinson, Supt., of the Machinery of the District Fire Department to visit our city and assist us in making examinations and tests as to the merits and efficiency of a combination engine, selected for use in that portion of Alexandria recently annexed. Mr. Robinson's service was of great value to us, and he supplemented them with a comprehensive and intelligent report in writing.

Our city has called upon our Washington neighbors for assistance, which have always been promptly and ungrudgingly rendered. One should always be willing to work and do, but this in no way prevents thanks for assistance and help.

We would feel further obliged if you in your own time, and in your own way express to Mr. Robinson our appreciation of his visit. We could of course give practical evidence of our knowledge of his services, but this is something that perchance would not meet the approval of yourself and your associates.

Yours very truly,
THOMAS A. FISHER,
Mayor.

January, 21st., 1916.

Hon. Thomas A. Fisher,
Mayor of Alexandria,
Alexandria, Virginia.

My dear Mr. Mayor:—

Permit me to thank you most cordially for your letter of January 20th, expressing your appreciation of the service of Mr. T. M. Robinson, Superintendent of Machinery of the Fire Department. I, for one, can assure you that the District authorities are desirous of doing everything in their power to assist our neighboring city. I have take the liberty of forwarding your letter to Mr. Robinson, together with my own personal thanks for the work he did in Alexandria.

Yours very truly,
Louis Brownlow,
Commissioner.

Our Men's Suits and Overcoats Should Go Double Quick at Our Genuine Reduced Prices

Quality is beyond question in the purchase of an article from this store, hence our clothing stocks are always very low when the time for reductions arives. This year the responses to our first announcements were so great that we had to purchase several hundred additional garments from our regular makers after the sale had been in progress bus a few days. Hence we say that the garments that remain now should be disposed of quickly. Espeially is this so when you take into consideration the fact that many of the suits are made in what is known as the "California" weight, which makes them light enough to be worn throughout the year Handsome fabris and a variety of styles.

COMMENDABLE MOVEMENT.

As will be seen by an article elsewhere, a movement has been launched in this city for sending aid to Jews who have been rendered homeless and destitute by the war now being waged in Europe. The movement has appealed to all classes of our community, and ecclesiastical predilections are being sidetracked in order that all may have a part in this truly good work. Senator Swanson and Representative Carlin will attend the meeting to be held in the Elks' Auditorium next Wednesday night and make speeches in the interest of the good cause. Dr. Abram Simon, a prominent Rabbi of Washington, will also be there, together with Miss Mabel Boardman, of the Red Cross Society, Rev. E. V. Regester, Rev. Louis Knee, pastor of St. Mary's Church, and Miss Kate Waller Barrett, of this city, each of whom will have some words to utter in commendation of the movement.

Several years ago, when Israelites were being made the objects of persecution in Russia, their co-religionists and others of Alexandria held meetings and raised funds for the victims. The appeals of the sufferers are again being heard from the devastated parts of Galicia, Asia and other places, and it must be that people in America, enjoying peace, freedom and prosperity should remember those who are passing through terrible ordeals.

Those who have read history are familiar with the tribulations of Jews before and since the destrucion of Jerusalem. Nearly every time a commotion was started in European countries in past centuries the Jew was made a target whether he was a party to the dispute or not. It is so now in the twentieth century.

In this land of the free and the home of the brave it is difficult for us to realize that such crimes could be tolerated in the name of civilization.

Bishop Greer recently said in this connection:

I desire to express my sympathy and to persuade others toward that sympathy for the suffering, starving Jewish people; men, women and children on the other side of the seas. I am moved to do this, not merely by sentimental considerations, though such considerations are always legitimate, but as an act of justice. It is a debt, a debt in the first place which the Christian Church owes to the Jewish people; it is a reparation debt for its persecutions of them, and for the cruelties and the crimes which it has inflicted upon them. It is a catalogue of crime, and as a Christian man, with shame for the Christian Church, I confess and admit that the church whose professed faith is charity and love for all, for the brotherhood of man, for the Fatherhood of God; and notwithstanding that professed faith has inflicted such cruelty and injury upon the Jew. Not because he was a sinner above all other sinners, but because he was a Jew. And for this reason they made an outcast of him, unsheltered by the Christian State, unshielded by the Christian Church, and victimized by both.

It is a fact embedded in the history of the past and the right, the proper, the just, thing for the Christian Church to do, is to try to pay—in full measure it never can—but to try to pay that reparation debt, and now is the time.

In this his bitter hour, in his starving and suffering hour, now is the time to pay it. The debt is due, it is overdue; and the payment now should be made and I appeal not merely to the sons of Zion, my Jewish fellow citizens but I appeal to my Christian fellow citizens in this land to pay and discharge promptly and generously this reparation debt to the Jew.

BACK TO DAYS OF ST. PAUL.

Rev. John McDowell, of the Park Avenue Church, Baltimore, made an address on "Social Aspects of Christianity," before the Presbyterian Ministers' Association, this week. He criticised the methods used by the Church in treating the social questions of the day—or for not treating them at all. The preacher of today, he said, had been a failure in treating social questions from a Christian standpoint, with the result that the people had been influenced by the dangerous theories advanced by more that "57 varieties" of socialism.

The speaker contended that unless the Christian ministry got to work at once, the socialists and anarchists would be supreme, and the church will be responsible for all the results which must follow. It was not necessary, he said, to enter into any philosophical questions to set men's minds right, but just to follow the old Christian principles, the teachings of Paul's time, when men were taught in a simple way the proper relations between husband and wife, between employer and employee, and all the every-day problems, which means so much for happiness and morality. The questions of social life today, he said, could be readily solved by reading the Old and the New Testament, and what the people wanted now were Christian leaders who could present the Scriptures practically and in a manner to enlighten and encourage them.

"The times are appealing," the speaker said, "to the church to fill the social movement with the spirit of Christ, which always and everywhere is the spirit of love, service and sacrifice, and makes the world one in a genuine brotherhood."

The minister is right. If all religious teachers would strive to impress upon the world the importance of living according to the teachings of the Bible, there would be much less discontent and trouble in this world. It will never be accomplished in movements, upon political lines. It needs moral suasion. When John the Baptist was preaching on the shores of the river Jordan, representatives of all classes came to him. Among the gathering were Roman soldiers, who asked him, "And what shall we do?" The Baptist answered, "Do violence to no man, and be content with your wages."

How much trouble and bitterness could be avoided were all to act upon this good advice!

"COMMISSIONER OF MORAL WELFARE."

As might have been expected, the suggestion of the Anti-Saloon League of Virginia to add another useless office upon the already overburdened tax-payers of Virginia is bringing out determined opposition. The constitution places upon the Governor the responsibility of seeing to the enforcement of the laws. Now that prohibition is a fact, or will be before the year shall have expired, why not vest the executive with power to enforce the new law?

The Richmond Times-Dispatch in commenting upon the plan to create the office of "Commissioner of Moral Welfare" says:

Not only is there no valid and adequate reason why the enforcement of the prohibition laws should be taken from the immediate direction of the Governor of the State, but there are controlling reasons why this duty and responsibility, with the accompanying authority, should not be separated from the executive office.

Above the "Commissioner of Moral Welfare" and to some limited extent in authority over him would be the Governor of Virginia, bearing part of the responsibility, but without direct supervision of the office and its subordinate officials. We would have again the old curse of divided power. If the Governor kept hands off and things went wrong, it would be said that he had failed to do his duty. If he interfered and things went wrong, he would be charged with obstructing law enforcement. In either event, if there were a failure of efficiency, he and the Commissioner of Moral Welfare would be in a position to shift responsibility back and forth.

How much better it would be to keep responsibility where the Constitution places it, and to supplement it with adequate appropriations and sufficient authority! Do this, and if the prohibition statutes are not faithfully executed, the people of Virginia will know whom to blame. And who says, or dare say, that there is a man in the State who would discharge this trust with more fidelity than Henry C. Stuart?

THE MRS. MOHR MURDER TRIAL

(Danville Register)

The trial of Mrs. Elizabeth Mohr, of Providence, R. I., on the indictment charging her with being an accessory before and after the fact to the murder of her husband, who was waylaid along a road near that city last August and shot to death by hirelings is nearing the end and the result appears likely to be serious to the wife of the dead man. The negro chauffeur turned State's evidence and gave damaging testimony, and two other negroes one an employe and the other a discarded employe of Dr. Mohr, have also contributed testimony which tends strongly to establish the guilt of the wife in having conspired to kill her husband. The motive which the State's witnesses tend to establish is jealousy on the part of the wife of various women to whom it is alleged her husband was attentive. At the time of the murderous assault on the dark road the physician was accompanied by his stenographer and she herself was wounded by one of the shots. Testimony has been adduced also to show that Mrs. Mohr had threatened one or more of the young women associates of her husband with violence if they persisted in accepting courtesies or attention from him.

The sex of the prisoner is her greatest safeguard against a conviction of first degree murder. We shall be surprised if the jury agrees on a verdict of guilt, but would be more surprised if a verdict of not guilty were returned. In fact, we anticipate that a mistrial will result and the woman may ultimately go free, even though she be guilty. This is but another manifestation of that sex discrimination in the administration of law against which we have often inveighed.

Thursday we published a communication protesting against the conviction of woman on a charge of capital crime, but we are not quite clear whether the writer regarded such a conviction as unjust because women had no voice in making or administering the laws, or whether he based his protest against the execution of a North Carolina murderess (and inferently of any other) upon his general opposition to the imposition of capital punishment by law. The growing demand for the abolition of Capital punishment for crime is beginning to undertermine our system of justice. Already in Virginia such a penalty has been virtually repealed by an act of the last General Assembly giving juries the option of making life imprisonment an alternative for capital punishment.

Mrs. R. H. Dawson, 409 N. West St., Alexandria, says: "My back was so stiff and lame that I couldn't do anything without great suffering. When I got down, it was almost impossible for me to straighten up. Sharp twinges often caught me in the small of my back and hips and I couldn't move until they eased up. In the morning, my back ached so badly that I could hardly get out of bed. My kidneys were irregular in action and the kidney secretions caused me much misery. I felt all out of sorts and had no ambition to do anything. A neighbor advised me to take Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a box at C. W. Summers' Drug Store. I never took another medicine that acted so quickly. One box put my kidneys in good working order and made my back strong."

BRITISH GRIP ON SEA

Whatever Change is Made in Orders of Council Matters Will be Worse

London, Jan. 22—Whatever change is made in the British orders in council, it is absolutely certain that the grip of British sea power on Germany will be tightened rather than loosened.

This is the opinion expressed in a high quarter of the British government, which is not yet convicted that the orders in council are not the best methods for bringing economic pressure to bear on the Central powers. It is clear now that the foreign office will not come to any decision until it lays a complete defense of the present operations of the orders in council before the House of Commons and this will not be done until the compulsion debate is ended.

At that time the recently published figures showing exports to neutral countries having access to Germany, will be vigorously attacked. Most of these figures, according to statements made in official circles here, apply to months preceding the actual adoption and enforcement of the orders in council and also ignore the fact that millions of bushels of wheat that formally found their way to these countries from Russia, now must be replaced from the United States and Argentina.

Signs exist that the orders in council are being more rigidly enforced than ever before. While the average seizure of ships probably has not greatly increased, it is claimed that more portions of their cargoes than usual are being ordered into the prize courts.

The Swedish-American liner Stockholm, which was sent from Kirkwall to Liverpool to discharge certain parts of her cargo, is lying in the stream, unable to get a berth for unloading on account of the congested condition of the wharves. The portion of the Stockholm's cargo which have been ordered into the prize court inclued beef and pork from all the big Chicago packers, a shipment of cocoa beans.

DANGEROUS BOMB THROWER

New York, Jan. 22—The police announced yesterday that with the arrest last night of Michaele Grasinno, while carrying a suitcase containing a bomb, they believe they had thwarted a plan to blow up the Brooklyn Bridge or the new Municipal Building. Gasiano was arrested after he had been trailed from the archway of the Municipal Building to the bridge promenade and today the Bureau of Combustibles, after an examination of the bomb, announced that it was constructed so as to explode with tremendous force. The bomb consisted of an agate can about four inches in diameter and four deep into which an agate cover had been tightly driven, with a fuse connecting with the explosive.

Members of the "bomb squad" had been watching Grasiano for three months, having learned, they said that an attempt was to be made to blow up "a big building." They also arrested Leonardo Vizeo in connection with the case.

FAMILY AVOIDS SERIOUS SICKNESS

By Being Constantly Supplied With Thedford's Black-Draught.

McDuff, Va.—"I suffered for several years," says Mrs. J. B. Whittaker, of this place, "with sick headach, and stomach trouble.

Ten years ago a friend told me to try Thedford's Black-Draught, which I did, and I found it to be the best family medicine for young and old.

I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried.

We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught."

Thedford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, and has been found to regulate weak stomachs, aid digestia, relieve indigestion, colic, wind, sick headache, sick stomach, and similar symptoms.

It has been in constant use for more than 70 years, and has benefit more than a million people.
